Compressive portfolio combining security assessment, design, implementation, monitoring and management

From the development of security policies and posture assessment through to the design and deployment of organisational-wide security solutions, Imerja has the depth of expertise to ensure your business assets are not compromised.

The modern reality is that security problems have now become a fact of business life and not something that happens to other businesses. As organisations struggle to contain the threats they face the actual number of security incidents continues to rise.

With a deep understanding of the key business drivers that fuel the demand for better IT security across the enterprise, Imerja develops and implements security solutions that will improve your overall security posture and make recommendations and design systems to deliver on your security strategy.

Imerja's security specialists are highly experienced professionals with proven track records in the assessment, design and implementation of innovative, complex and cost effective security solutions delivered on budget and on time.

To compliment its suite of security services Imerja offers a range of vulnerability and penetration assessment services to ensure continued compliance.

Unlike packaged security testing services that rely solely on automated tools, Imerja provides more consistent and accurate results, avoiding false positives, by complementing automated toolsets with manual testing based on the consultants' expertise and experience.

Imerja's testing services are non-destructive and have negligible impact on normal business activities (modules such as Denial of Service Attacks are typically scheduled out-of-hours).
